

People,

I am very happy with the no-call list as it presently stands. I do not want it tampered with. If it is changed I will have to stop doing business, if that's possible, with any who intend to call me because I do business in other ways with them. I do not need to be answering phone calls I do not want nor am I interested in. I do not buy anything over the phone! If that is already my intention, why should I be called? Why am I not permitted to say so ahead of time? I also feel the same way about many of the charitable calls I already receive.

Thank you for not changing the law.
